Score 72.1

Confidence 82 (High)

Try softening the lighting slightly to reduce the intensity of highlights on the face, and experiment with a slight head tilt to enhance expression.
Style Fashion (0.85)

This three-quarter shot presents a poised and confident stance, with clean lines and a crisp silhouette. The high contrast and minimalist background create a modern, editorial aesthetic.

However, the lighting leans slightly bright, which flattens some facial contours—softening this could enhance depth. Compared to future images, consider varying expression or posture to build a more dynamic narrative.

Coach Feedback

- Refine your three-quarter pose by experimenting with subtle shifts in weight and hand placement to add dimension.
- Work on facial expression variety—introduce more emotion or softness to increase visual engagement.
- Adjust exposure slightly to avoid overly bright highlights that can flatten facial features.
- Incorporate more dynamic lighting setups to add depth and mood to your shots.
- Explore more diverse wardrobe choices to showcase range and versatility.

Next step: Introduce subtle movement into your posing to bring more life and storytelling into your shots.

What to Keep

- Maintain your strong framing—your placement in the frame is balanced and intentional.
- Continue using clean, distraction-free backgrounds that keep the focus on you.
- Keep your contrast levels high; it adds a polished, editorial finish to your images.

Reshoot Checklist

- Test different lighting angles to reduce harsh highlights and bring out facial structure.
- Frame the subject with a touch more negative space to allow the pose to breathe.
- Use textured or layered wardrobe pieces to add visual interest without overpowering the shot.
- Ensure hair is styled to complement the face shape and avoid obscuring key features.
- Use a steady surface or tripod to reduce blur
